McAleer & Rushe is a privately-owned award-winning construction firm with over 50 years of experience in the design and build of construction projects.

Customer focus is fundamental to the company’s approach. We work in partnership with our clients to achieve their operational requirements, whilst maximising the efficiency and commercial potential of each building.

McAleer & Rushe prides itself on completion of all major projects safely, on time and on budget, whilst meeting or exceeding customer requirements in terms of quality construction.

The company implements and maintains an ISO9001 certified management system and is committed to maintaining this certification and to continually improving the management system.

Quality objectives are set annually as part of the company’s SHEQ strategy, and progress against deliverables is reviewed quarterly by the McAleer and Rushe Quality Team.

McAleer & Rushe’s Integrated Management system ensures a systematic and proactive approach to drive the successful delivery of our projects at all stages and in all aspects, including:

- Contractor management
- Efficiency
- Compliance
- Communication; and
- Quality Control

By implementing the Integrated Management System on our projects, we demonstrate our expertise in construction, enhance our reputation, and satisfy the requirements of our customers and other key stakeholders.

Our supply chain is managed through a SHEQ approval and performance review process ensure consistent delivery and conformance to applicable requirements. All contractors sign a Commitment Statement, demonstrating their commitment to work under the control of McAleer & Rushe’s Think SM@RT integrated management system.

The quality policy, processes and procedures are controlled centrally with the help and advice of appointed company experts in quality control and assurance. The company commits to ensuring its policies and procedures are communicated, understood and applied throughout the organisation.

To ensure the compliance of our projects and operations with client requirements and applicable legislation and to provide the necessary level of business assurance, the company carries out regular internal audits which are designed to proactively identify areas of risk and opportunity and to help project teams to successfully manage and coordinate subcontractors on site and deliver projects that satisfy the requirements of our customers and other key stakeholders.
